BOTH POWERS MAKE REPLY

TO THE PEACE NOTE OF THE PRESIDENT.

Russia and Japan Give Formal Assurance of Their Acceptance of His Suggestions—London Awaits Next Step.

Washington, June 13.—It was announced today the formal reply of the Russian government to President Roosevelt's identical note of last Thursday is in the hands of the American government. The response was handed to Ambassador Meyer at St. Petersburg by Count Lamsdorf, the Russian foreign minister, and transmitted by the ambassador to the president. It can be said that it is in perfect consonance with the oral assurance given the president yesterday by Russian Ambassador Cassini. The president has decided not to make public the replies of Russian and Japan to his appeal for cessation of hostilities. This determination was arrived at in suggestion of both the belligerents that publication of their responses at this juncture might not be desirable. Official assurance is given, however, informal statements of the contents of the replies are not only accurate but practically complete as to information contained in them.

London, June 13.—London is anxiously awaiting the next step in peace negotiations. Neither British official circles nor the embassies have received further news, for which they are looking to Washington, St. Petersburg and Tokyo. Japanese official circles are somewhat pessimistic in the fear that Russia will not accept the Japanese demands as the basis for negotiations looking to a settlement of the far eastern question.

St. Petersburg, June 13, 2:10 a. m.—Instead of publishing the text of its official reply to the president from President Roosevelt regarding the initiation of peace negotiations with Japan, the Russian government decided, with the purpose of keeping the public into its confidence regarding the prospects of peace, to issue a statement summarizing the status of negotiations, which will appear in form of a communication in the Foreign Office Gazette to day. This statement, which pays great tribute to President Roosevelt's action, expresses in general way Russia's willingness to negotiate without entering into particulars, which cannot be considered to be definitely determined until the receipt of the Japanese reply. The Russian government has under the circumstances deemed it best to leave to the Washington position. The Japanese government has not yet communicated with Russia the number of plenipotentiaries considered. This is not strange, inasmuch as the text of the Russian reply to Washington yesterday could not have arrived at Tokyo considering the difference in time, until late this morning at the earliest.

Japanese terms continue to be a matter for animated speculation. A well informed diplomat, who says he knows the Japanese terms before the battle of Mukden, considered them to have been very moderate and believes even now they will be found not to be unduly arduous. A report from a Russian source at Nagasaki says it is certain Japan will demand the surrender of all ships interned in eastern waters, which may be another item of settling indemnity.

Papers supposed to have semi-official inspiration continue to speak dubiously of the results, but it is noticeable that popular papers like the Gazette advise the people to reconcile themselves to defeat, saying that "defeat is not a disgrace, and will not prevent developments look at France. We have survived previous misfortunes. We were beaten many times by Poland and Lithuania but they are now our subjects."

The latest another popular paper says a glowing tribute to President Roosevelt as "the peacemaker par excellence" and "the benefactor of the world." With much in sight, however, by strange perversion, some of those who were loudest in their favor when it was below the horizon, suddenly have changed their attitude, finding it less attractive than when it was opposed by the government.

Washington, June 13.—Ambassador Cassini, who has been in the city since his arrival here, having been in the president's office an hour and three quarters. He said his visit did not have "specialty" to peace negotiations.

PESSIMISM.—A note of pessimism was noticeable to night in discussion of the negotiations for peace in the far east. So far as is ascertainable at this time, no permanent ground exists for the supposition that the negotiations are not proceeding favorably. It is realized by both governmental and diplomatic circles that until the belligerents are actually brought together on common terms of understanding the possibility of a hitch in the taken into account.

Among members of the diplomatic corps, the formal response of the Russian government to the president's appeal of cessation of hostilities was received with keen interest. It was made the subject of a conference at the white house to day between the president and Minister Tuka-hira. The details of the conference were not disclosed, but to night Minister Takahira intimated strongly that negotiations were proceeding smoothly. In other diplomatic quarters it was suggested that possibly a too optimistic view of the situation generally was being taken. This idea, coupled with a call of M. Jusserand, the French ambassador at the white house to night led to the rumor, extensively circulated, that something akin to a hitch in the peace proceedings actually had occurred. Jusserand returned to night from West Point, where he went to deliver an address. At his embassy he found a note from President Roosevelt requesting him to call at the white house. He reached the president's home at 9:15 and remained with the president until 11. To the Associated Press, Jusserand, after the conference said it would be disastrous to the president for him to discuss for publication the nature of his interview. Asked the direct question whether a hitch had occurred in the peace negotiations, he replied frankly that he had heard of none, so far as he was aware, he said, there had been no change in the favorable status of the negotiations.

Direct communication between St. Petersburg and Tokyo have not yet been established. The white house is as yet the medium for all communications between the two capitals. Important details remain to be agreed upon before the plenipotentiaries can meet to discuss means of ending the war.

REMAINS SILENT.—Tokyo, June 13.—The Japanese government still maintains silence regarding peace negotiations. It is apparently awaiting action and advice from Washington and St. Petersburg.

INTERESTED IN PEACE.—Headquarters of the Russian Army, Godzyski, Manchuria, June 13.—Now, the general facts about the battle of the sea of Japan have become known by the army, the greatest interest is felt in the prospect of peace.

The Japanese raid covering 150 miles to Omoso on the Kirin-Ningutu road, one of the best cavalry achievements of a war in which such achievements have been comparatively insignificant, taken with the general activity along the entire Japanese lines and especially on the left is believed to indicate the intention of the Japanese to force a demonstration which the Russians believe to be intended for effect on the peace negotiations.

LABOR UNIONS AND BRIBERY

THE TEAMSTERS' STRIKE IN THE BACKGROUND.

Interest on Both Sides Now Centered to Controversy Among the Leaders—Driscoll's Has Evidence.

Chicago, June 13.—The teamsters' strike proper has almost been lost sight of, the situation of both sides to the controversy being occupied more with the charges of bribery in connection with labor unions in Chicago, than with the real issues. Within the next twenty-four hours, it was said to night, a history of secret transactions of labor unionism in Chicago for the past four years would be made public, and that the information would implicate many labor leaders, who it is asserted, have accepted bribes to call off strikes.

The man who is expected to give this information is John D. Driscoll, former secretary of the Central Team Owners' Association, who has been the intermediary between the employers and teamsters' unions in this city for the past four years. Tomorrow morning Driscoll says he will appear before the grand jury with documentary evidence showing that several labor leaders have been receiving large sums of money through Driscoll, which it is declared by the latter, employers were forced to pay to prevent being called out on strike. To substantiate his statements, Driscoll displayed to night a bank check book, the stubs on which he said corresponding to amounts paid these labor leaders.

The method used by Driscoll, according to his own statement, was this: An employer, or an organization of employers affected by strike or were likely to be would ask him to use his influence to bring about an adjustment of the difficulty. Fees, according to Driscoll, paid union men ranged from $100 to thousands, the aggregate being estimated by him at $30,000. Driscoll declares he never received a dollar of money for his efforts in averting trouble, except from organizations of which he was secretary.

They are said to be three smoothies and most dangerous of their kind in the country. The members of the trio would secure a money order for $5 and with the aid of clerks would pass the order to a merchant who would purchase some article and get the change. He also said the defenses would be of the same general character as those at Hong Kong or the American naval base at Guantanamo.

KING OSCAR OF SWEDEN

ADDRESSES A NOTE TO THE NORWEGIANS.

Declares He Acted Only as the Ruler of the United Nations Could and Avers the Separation is Illegal.

Stockholm, Sweden, June 13.—King Oscar in a long and vigorously worded letter to the president of the Norwegian assembly, M. Berner, declares the accession of Norway's king makes it a king's duty not to pass over in silence the pronouncement of Norway regarding separation from Norway. The king maintains he did not overstep his prerogatives under the constitution and says that consideration for the union imposes on the king the duty of exercising his constitutional rights. King Oscar says: "The Norwegian people and Norwegian union demand the right to force the king to give a decision which in his opinion conflicts with his duty as a monarch of the united kingdom and the king of Sweden, therefore the king of Sweden must become altogether dependent as regards his decision upon the will of the Norwegian nation through its council of state."

"Such a position for kingly power I can only describe as being irreconcilable with the laws of the union laid down in the rigid charter promulgated in 1815, and establishing the fundamental laws on the terms that the union of the two kingdoms be indissoluble and irrevocable without prejudice, of either Sweden or Norway."

"My endeavor has always been to give Norway that place with the union which they rightly claim. My royal duty to the union requires me to endeavor to uphold its legal basis, even when by so doing I come into opposition with Norwegian feeling. The law on which regard the welfare of the united kingdoms, determined my decision on the consular question, but here I was met not only by the refusal of the Norwegian council of state to countermand that decision, but by the resignation of its members. When I declined to accept their resignation, I declared threateningly that any Norwegian who cooperated in carrying my decision would at the same moment be without a fatherland. I was, therefore, placed in the position of whether myself breaking the Riksdag, which I was sworn to uphold, or of reconciling myself to stand without councilors."

"The council, after attempting to violate the constitution and to render void a decision of the king of Norway, resignation of office and the king of Norway was deprived of councilors. The storming approved this breach of the constitution and by revolutionary proceeding declared the legitimate king of Norway had ceased to reign and that the union of two kingdoms was dissolved."

"It remains for Sweden and me as king of the union to decide whether the lack of Norway to decide whether the union shall lead to legal dissolution or that union. Let the present generation and posterity judge between me and the Norwegian people."

THE FIRST SHOT

In Defense of Washington was Fired From the New Battery Last Night.

Fort Hunt, Va., June 13.—The first gun in defense of Washington was fired by one of the eight in batteries of Fort Lincoln to night. The target was one of the units of Admiral Dikens' squadron which appeared to be of the cruiser type and had just fired the fort and was proceeding slowly up the river. The shot was fired by a "gunner" who was indicated by a signal from one of the fort's search lights. After the initial firing the search light came general and six minutes was taken up by Fort Washington's search light batteries. Not wishing to come from the war ship and when the regular number of shots from the fort had been fired to constructively put the ship out of action the firing ceased.

THE FIGHT STILL ON

The Philadelphia City Council Has Another Stormy Experience.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 13.—Amid cries of "thieves" and "crooks" and under the protection of a squad of police, the committee on street railways to day referred to the city solicitor for his opinion as to the legality of four bills repealing ordinances granting street car companies the right to use 110 miles of street to lay tracks without the city receiving any compensation for the franchises. Another sensation in the political situation to day was the arrest of Frank H. Caven, select councilman from the Thirty-fourth ward, on a charge of violating his councilman's oath by being interested in city contracts. He was held in $10,000 bail for further hearing. He denies the charge.

The fight over the street car franchises promises to be a warm one before it is finally ended. It is a contest between the mayor and citizens living in the territory through which the proposed new lines are to run on the one hand, and the Philadelphia Rapid Transit company, backed by the Republican organization on the other.

ASSASSINATION IN ATHENS

THE POPULAR PREMIER OF GREECE KILLED.

Stabbed and Mortally Wounded by a Professional Gambler—Rage of the People for the Act.

Athens, Greece, June 13.—Premier Delyannis was stabbed in the stomach by a gambler named Charakiris. The premier was ascending the main stairway of the chamber of deputies, when the assailant rushed forward from his place of concealment and inflicted the wound on the statesman. The assailant was arrested.

Add ASASS.—The Premier arrived at the entrance of the chamber of deputies in a carriage. Charakiris approached, snatched the premier, and opened the carriage door. The premier was in the act of lighting Charakiris for his courtesy, when he plunged a long dagger into Delyannis' abdomen, inflicting a frightful wound. The murderer was immediately overpowered by attendants. The wounded statesman was taken to a Red Cross station, where he died at 7:30. The news spread all over the city and it would be impossible to describe the popular evidences of sorrow, or the "crowd" which attempted to lynch the assassin. Lynching was prevented by gendarmes who rushed their prisoners to prison.

It is estimated 20,000 persons escorted the body of the premier to his late residence. Charakiris was recently liberated from prison, having been sentenced to eighteen years for the murder of his wife.

COLLEGE

ATHLETICS

ARE HARD HIT BY PRESIDENT JAMES

Says Time Has Come to Call Hal—System a Bad One—Students Are Subordinated—Views of President Rammelkamp.

The following statement in the Chicago Tribune regarding present day college athletics by President James, of the University of Illinois, has startled the college world. Queries were sent Tuesday to many college presidents of the country asking their opinion of the statements announced by President James, and submitted is the answer sent by President Rammelkamp of Illinois college.

President E. J. James, of the University of Illinois, after five years' careful investigation, says that the severe strain undergone by college athletes largely unfit them for business or professional life, leaving them unable to play a man's part in affairs because of physical weakness induced by over-exertion.

Nearly all football players, baseball men and lawn tennis experts, he declares, have weak hearts, and are more liable to other forms of diseases than men who take a more rational interest in college sports. For years President James has felt that college athletics were being carried to dangerous extremes. He has always opposed the excessive training necessary to competition in college games. With the idea of ascertaining the actual effect of the long training and the terrible effort necessary to the contest, he began collecting statistics regarding the health of famous athletes and their accomplishments in the affairs of life.

These statistics will not be ready for official publication before next October, but President James says they will undoubtedly cause much surprise to the men who declare the college athlete develops into the vigorous man who does things.

The lives of English and American athletes have been investigated. In England it has been easy to follow the stars after they left school, as the alumni of one of the big universities are kept track of carefully. Here the task has been more difficult, because many of the cracks have disappeared. Besides the strenuous training of American athletes is of comparative recent development.

Football as played to day, was not developed until the middle '70's, and base ball before that time was a simple kind of sport. Tennis players, runners, swimmers, etc., present better chances for investigation, and furnished President James valuable statistics.

Regarding the crack tennis players he said: "There is scarcely a one of the top notchers but who has suffered from heart disease, many of them in severe form. Many died of heart disease between the ages of 40 and 45, when they should have been at their best, physically."

FOOTBALL IRRATIONAL

"You must not think that I am opposed to athletics, for I am not. The rational sports of college life have no stronger supporter than I. I believe that every girl and boy should take part in healthy outdoor sports."

"I am opposed to the present method whereby at the University of Illinois, out of 2,500 students, sixty men appear to train for the football team and after untold hardships eleven are picked out to represent the college. The only exercise a majority of the 2,500 students get is in rooting."

"This condition is wrong and should not be permitted to exist. Fortunately things have gone to such an extreme that a reaction is bound to set in, and sports will be conducted on more rational lines, so as to include more students and to eliminate the great strain on the leading athletes."

"While I am not ready to cite figures proving my assertions, I must say that my investigations have shown athletics in a bad light. It is often asserted that the successful athlete brings into his after-life a courage and reserve strength which makes him eminently successful. This is not the case."

NO CARRIER FOR STARS

"Few of the winners of the Oxford and Cambridge foot races, records of which are available for more than 100 years back, ever achieved more than moderate success. Frequently they were left physical wrecks, and seldom they escaped without some physical injury. The strokes on the boat crews present the same history. There are few but carried the marks of the terrible strain all through their lives."

"The conditions in this country are the same as those in England. Here, as a rule, a boy begins playing football in the high school. He goes through four years of severe training, and upon entering the university the hard work is doubled. He goes to a training table and for months undergoes severe physical strain."

"If he is a good player this is kept up for four years more. The athlete's heart is frequently badly strained and the work tells upon the strongest constitution. In after life, when the body should be the strongest, the undermined system collapses and the athlete falls an early grave from heart disease, consumption, or some other disease induced by over-exertion."

HITS ALL THE SPORTS

"Football is no worse in its effects than rowing, tennis, long distance running, or walking. Indeed tennis seems to be the worst of all where overindulgence occurs, as almost all famous old-time players have had heart disease in more or less severe form."

"I have no need to say that the college athlete does not lend in his studies. Those who are interested know that he is seldom even up to the average of his class. This mental inactivity seems to follow him in after life, preventing him from becoming a leader in intellectual affairs."

In response to a query regarding the above sent by the Tribune, President Rammelkamp, of Illinois college, sent the following reply:

PRESIDENT RAMMELKAMP.
"The effect of athletics whether college athletics or any other kind upon the health of those who participate in them is, of course, a question of fact that can be determined only by careful, extensive, impartial investigation. We may take it for granted that overindulgence in any kind of athletics, like dissipation of any kind, will undermine the health of the individual, but that our present system of college athletics is decreasing the longevity of the athlete and diminishing their effective usefulness in the world is a broad question that cannot be answered offhand. It will be interesting to see how far President James' statistics, when they are published, will substantiate his general statement. Meanwhile, we may rest assured that, whatever their effect on the after-life of the individual athlete, college athletics, properly conducted, are fulfilling a most useful mission, and this I understand, President James himself does not deny. If college athletics are interfering with the class work of the students or exerting a bad moral influence, it is the fault of the college authorities, and not of athletics per se. Regulation and not extermination is the remedy. At Illinois college students who are conditioned in their class work are not allowed to play on the teams; similar rules exist at many other institutions and when properly enforced will do much to solve the problem of college athletics."

CHILDREN'S DAY

Three of the four Sunday schools on Jacksonville circuit observed Children's day by rendering excellent programs. The churches were all tastefully decorated in keeping with the day. At Hebrew and Salem the services were about the best ever given by these schools, and would compare very favorably with more pretentious schools. The attendance was large, packing the churches full and showing their appreciation of the children's efforts by a splendid offering for the cause of education.

While at Shiloh the collection was rather small, the school did commendably well with their services. The several committees on programs and decorations spared no pains to make the day a success and are entitled to the gratitude of all concerned for their splendid work.

VISITORS FROM BRAZIL

Rev. Fred Lenington and sister, Miss Effie, have landed in this country for a well earned vacation of a year, after nine years of arduous labor as missionaries in Brazil. From other sources than Mr. Lenington comes the word that he has had remarkable success in his noble work in South America. He has visited many places and often where he expected the most violent opposition to nullify his efforts it has had rather the opposite result, that of advertising the meetings, until he has often in one place spoken to a thousand and more at a time. They are expected by their brother, Rev. George G. Lenington, in Virginia in a few days and will doubtless pay their Jacksonville friends a visit while in this country.

CHOOSE OFFICERS

The following officers were elected at a recent meeting of Organizers' union No. 114:

President—William F. Thompson.
Vice president—F. X. Z. Saeger.
Financial secretary—L. P. Hoffman.

Recording and corresponding secretary—T. W. Dohi.
Treasurer—Henry Rolf.
Trustees—Jacob Herberg, Othello Henze and H. Zeller.

Sergeant at arms—Phil Schulz, Jr.
Label custodian—J. A. Manes.
Executive board—Fred Senger, F. W. Dohi, J. A. Manes, L. Vieira and Ed Ornellas.

Finance committee—J. A. Manes, L. Vieira and Ed Ornellas.
Delegate to Trades Assembly—M. C. Armstrong.

WON THE PRIZE

Alton Samuel, Miss Lena Marsh, of Upper Alton, a daughter of Rev. J. N. Marsh, has been awarded the $25 cash prize in a graduating class of fourteen for the best oration at Shurtleff college. Eight years ago her brother, Rev. J. N. Marsh, now pastor of the First Baptist church at Jacksonville, captured a like prize in a class of the same number.

It's the Little Things that Count.

A minister in one of the churches in Jacksonville not long ago delivered one of the grandest sermons I ever heard, his subject being "The Little Things that Count."

Teeth don't last forever. Once Father Time gets at them with his file there is trouble ahead. A great deal may be done to resist this wear and tear. One of the most valuable things a dentist can give a patient is an examination. He looks the teeth all over, finds a tiny cavity and lots of trouble and money is saved. It's the little things that count.

ADDITION TO OLD PEOPLE'S HOME

Will Cost $13,000—Action Taken by Benevolent Association in St. Louis Tuesday Evening.

An addition costing $13,000 will be erected at once to the Old People's home building on Grove street. This action was decided upon at a meeting of the board of the National Benevolent association of the Christian church, held in St. Louis Tuesday. Rev. R. F. Thrapp, John R. Lear and Mrs. George Douglas, a committee from the home in this city, were present at the meeting of the board and presented the needs of the local institution.

The addition will be built on the east side of the present structure and will be two stories in height and will have sixteen rooms. The basement will be fitted up for laundry purposes and there will be a large porch across both stories.

The excavation for the addition will give a large amount of surplus dirt that can be used for grading the front lawn and when the improvement is completed it will make a decided change in the present structure and grounds that will add not only to the convenience but also to the attractiveness of the place.

The home was opened in 1890 and has ever had the hearty support of the organization under whose fostering care it is maintained. There are now about fifteen persons at the home and with the addition there will be accommodations for forty persons. This will make the institution one of the largest maintained by the denomination.

Mr. and Mrs. John Anderson have charge of the home. Plans for the work are in course of preparation and bids will be called for in a few weeks as it is hoped to have the addition completed and in use by fall.
